

Language & Communication

What is the difference between language and communication?

Language – Key Features

- 1) Language is rule-governed.
- 2) Language is intended.
- 3) Language is creative and open-minded.

KQs For Consideration

What is lost in translation from one language to another? Why?

KQ For Consideration

To what degree might different languages shape in their speakers different concepts of themselves and the world? What are the implications of such differences for knowledge?

CR Prompt Options for #27

- (1) How much could you know about the world if you had no language?
- (2) What is the role of language in creating and communicating knowledge?
- (3) Is it possible to think without language? How does language facilitate, extend, direct, or limit thinking?

KQs For Consideration

What is the role of language in creating and reinforcing social distinctions, such as class, ethnicity, and gender?

KQs For Consideration

Is it possible to think without language? How does language facilitate, extend, direct, or limit thinking?